About the Association

Named after the most extensive Roman find ever unearthed on Austrian soil, the association has set itself the goal of breathing life into both the town centre and the everyday life of all the inhabitants of Mauer.

In addition to various activities, this Roman circular route was initiated to make the identity of Mauer visible and an active experience.

The association invites all residents and visitors to Mauer to walk along this trail to learn more about the historical past of the town.

Murus-Römerweg

Roman Circular Route Mauer

Follow Murus paw prints ...

... and discover Mauer's history
along the family circular route!

Immerse yourself in the world of the Romans and experience a fascinating journey through time - from the everyday life of the soldiers to the impressive architecture of the former fort in Mauer and the unique Dolichenus treasure.

MURUS-WEISS

Salve, I am Murus!

Follow me on this „Murus path“ to my favourite places and learn more about the interesting life of the Romans here in Mauer. In addition to further information about the stations, a tricky puzzle rally awaits you!

3. Burial ground south

At today's 'Dolichenus School', where another burial ground was located, you can find out more about the Roman school system. Murus also explains the Roman number system.

4. Roman troops in Austria

At the old oak tree, you have a wonderful view of the village of Mauer and can also see where the Roman fort was located. Find out more about the Roman borders, the legionary camps and trade routes. In the video, Murus shows you which of his large and small dog friends were popular with the Romans.

5. The fort at Mauer

Here you can find out more background information about the fort in Mauer and the exciting question of its name. You can also immerse yourself interactively in the fort using your smartphone.

Seeberger bakery The „Römerbäcker“

Every Friday you can get the delicious Römer-Mostbrot here, with which you also support the work of our association!

6. Jupiter Dolichenus find

The treasure find from Mauer, which gave the association and the fountain its name, takes centre stage here. With over 100 artefacts, it is the most extensive Roman find ever recovered on Austrian soil. This Dolichenus find is on display at the Kunsthistorisches Museum in Vienna. You can also view it digitally in 3D on our website.

7. Everyday life in the camp

What did the everyday life of a Roman soldier look like? What components did his armour have and what weapons did he carry? This station answers these exciting questions.

8. The Roman garden

Finally, it gets culinary: What did Roman cuisine consist of? What were their favourite ingredients? With Murus' favourite recipe, you can also cook a dish from that time.

NOTES

The Stations

1. Starting point: Main square

This is where your journey into ancient Mauer begins. You will also receive information about the Dolichenus Fountain and the work of the village renewal association of the same name.

2. Burial ground east

How did the Romans bury their dead? Find out details about grave goods and gravestones. Murus explains his favourite game 'dies et nox'.

Castellum

Here you can discover finds from Roman times up close. At the viewpoint, you can observe the historical development of Mauer from the stone and bronze ages to present day.
